A Dream Come True

“Wake up, Tom!” It was still dark outside when he heard his parents call him. “What’s wrong?!” he thought. He rushed downstairs to see his parents packing their family car. “Are you going on another trip?” They just looked at him with a sparkle in their eyes. He realized this trip was going to be different and that he would be going with them. Could this be the day he was waiting for? When he would finally get to go on a trip with his parents? They said they were surprising him with a trip to Victoria Falls to bungee jump off the bridge like he always wanted to. What a dream come true!
