TITLE: A MAGICAL PARADE

This year I made it to the changing seasons themed parade. There were over a dozen colourful and flexible acrobats jumping through hoops of fire. Suddenly poof they all disappeared and a few seconds later they reappeared. This was one of the summer floats. The winter float I liked it was snowing. There were polar bears on skates showing off their astonishing moves. The next group of floats were the autumn floats. On one were men who looked like leaves changing colours like the autumn leaves. Then came the spring floats. They were spinning flower buds which opened majestically and in the centre appeared fairies with wings made of just glitter. The spring floats were certainly my favourite this year.
