Title: A STRANGER I MET

Last holiday, my family and I visited a country called France. It was very different from where we come from; their culture and language were very different. They spoke French, and most of them could not understand English or Shona when we spoke.

We were all lost in an unknown country and knew absolutely nothing and no one there. Until a man called out to us, "Hey there, are you lost? Maybe I can help you." We were very delighted and asked the man, "What is your name?" He responded and said, "My name is Kevin De Bruyne, but just call me Kevin." After introducing ourselves to him, he took us to a hotel where they treated us well since we were tourists. Kevin gave us his number and said, "If you need any help, don't hesitate to call."

The next morning, we called Kevin and asked him to be our tour guide for as long as we stayed in France, and he genuinely agreed to help us. In the following days, Kevin showed us around the country.

By the time we were supposed to leave the country, we could speak a bit of French and had learned a lot about strangers. This reminded us that everyone we meet has the potential to leave a lasting impact on our lives. This man might have been a stranger, but he helped us when we were in an unknown country and knew absolutely nothing.
