A dream come true.

A dream come true is like honey. Making my dream come true would be the best thing in the world. The dream that I want or hope comes true is my crush liking me. If that dream becomes a reality I will be over the moon because that means I get sweets every day and that would make me happy. My crush liking me would make me happy and that would be a dream come true because most people have something against me. I will keep dreaming and dreaming for that dream to come true, it would make my day.
