

The Adventure I Never Expected

Early in the morning, I was walking to school when the sky suddenly turned grey. I had no idea my day was about to change. The rain came with no warning. I looked for the closest shelter, which was a bushy bus-stop. I was already soaking wet. But I had to wait for a bus or "kombi".

In five minutes, a "kombi" came. I was scared to hop in because most "kombi" driver's are reckless. My watch was already telling me "I'm late". As soon as I arrived at school, I entered the classroom with an odd look. Everyone screamed including my teacher Mrs. @une. I went to ~~her~~ apologise.

~~During~~ During supper, I told my family about my unexpected adventure
