School was typical, but after school, my world spun out of control.

Dad said: "Honey, we're moving to Mauritius. If I say no, they'll fire me!... And, we're leaving tomorrow." Overwhelmed with anger, I started to cry, and before he could stop me, I ran to my room. My mom and dad walked in. We hugged. "If your dad gets fired, our life would crumble. We're not in the best situation," my mom said. My dad added, "We'll get through this. Together."

I stepped off the airplane. Wow! Humidity hit me hard! I wanted to run back inside. But as I looked at my parents faces, I realized that I could survive this because we were together. Forever.
